Kashi Recalls Southwest Style Chicken Products Due to Mislabeling and Undeclared Allergen

(JUNEAU, AK) – Kashi, is recalling approximately 2,790 pounds of Kashi Southwest Style Chicken products because the packages may instead contain Kashi Chicken Pasta Pomodoro, a product that contains eggs, a known allergen that is not declared on the Kashi Southwest Style Chicken products label.

This recall is limited to:

10 oz. "Kashi Southwest Style Chicken" entrees marked with UPC Code 1862729292 and bear a lot code of DEC28 11 RF B1.

The individual packages are labeled "Keep Frozen" and bear the establishment number "P-17644" inside the mark of inspection. Request Foods, Inc. produced the chicken entrees for Kashi on December 28, 2010.

The Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation has confirmed that the recalled product has been distributed in Alaska.

People who have allergies to eggs and eat the recalled entrees run the risk of a serious or life-threatening allergic reaction. No illnesses have been associated with this product. However, anyone concerned about an allergic reaction should contact a health care provider.

Consumers with questions about the recall may contact the Kashi Consumer Response Center at (877) 864-3523 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern time, or visit www.kashi.com.

Members of the media with questions should contact the Kashi Media Hotline at (269) 961-3799 or mediarelations@kashi.com.
